

INTERESTING FIGURES
Interesting figures were given The Journal this week. Since the start of the war, twenty-nine international employees have enlisted. Twenty of these men were Canadian born, eight British born and one European, he being an Italian. Out of the twenty Canadian born five are of European descent and the remaining fifteen of British descent.

Council Advises Consumers to Boil Drinking Water

Latest Water Analysis by Provincial Authorities Reveals Water Contaminated; To Clean Filtering Beds at Intake.

The latest analysis received by the council pertaining to the town's drinking water proves that the water at the present time is contaminated.

A report had been received last week that the water was contaminated but since the water sample had not been sent in by town officials it had been decided that a warning would not be issued to the public until the analysis of the sample sent in by the town had been received. Council ordered that when information was received it was to be given The Journal with the warning that all water consumers boil the water to safeguard against possible disease.

To try and again purify the water the filtering beds at the water intake will be cleaned. Bush covering a considerable distance around the intake has been cleared with the thought in mind that clearing the land would keep the area cleaner in the immediate vicinity of the river bank and the intake. It is also the intention to put a substantial iron fence, on concrete footings, around the intake in order to keep bathers away from the intake all together.

Water samples are being sent every two weeks and The Journal, with the council's consent, will report on the condition of the water.

Mike Yagos Won Third Money in Bucking Contest At Macleod

Made Fine Rides and Will Likely Enter Bronc Riding Contests Calgary Stampede

A rider who was awarded third money in the finals at Macleod Stampede on Monday well known in Coleman was Mike Yagos, a Coleman born boy who now farms in Cowley district, where he and his brothers have 500 acres. Mike rode one of Herman Linder's picked horses which are bound for the big rodeos of the northwestern States. He drew in the finals a horse named "Slippery Liz," and she was a tough one. Mike made a fine ride in the bronc riding contest on Monday, the first day of the Stampede, qualifying for the finals on second day by winning day money. There were six contestants for the finals, and the horses they rode were drawn for in the finals in full view of the spectators, and it was interesting to follow each, for they were all the tops in bucking broncs and were regarded around the arena before the finals were run as the concluding event of the best two days rodeo Macleod has witnessed. Of the six horses drawn for the finals, only three riders stayed on, though they were picked riders who had ridden in many of the big rodeos. It was Mike's first ride this season. He has ridden in Calgary Stampede in previous years, besides the smaller rodeos of southern Alberta, and he will likely enter in Calgary's big show next week.

Mike's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yagos, came to Coleman from Poland and Mr. Yagos worked at International mine for 28 years.

It is four years since Mike began to ride bucking horses and steers, and though his farm work keeps him fully occupied he takes time off occasionally to take a sporting chance to ride the broncs at the western stampedes. His friends will join in wishing him luck in whatever contests he enters. He is 28 years old, and is single.

FREDA ANTROBUS TO SING AT LETHBRIDGE RECITAL

On Thursday, July 10, a musical treat will be enjoyed in Lethbridge when three young southern Alberta artists, Freda Antrobus, vocalist of Coleman; Catherine Prowse, violinist of Taber, and Helen McKenzie, pianist of Lethbridge, will be heard in a joint recital at the Marquis hotel, sponsored by the Major Stafford junior chapter I.O.G.E.

The three musicians have been continuing their studies at the Toronto Conservatory of Music during the past year and their recital at Lethbridge is being anticipated with a great deal of interest.

Cam. Burke Takes Over Soft Drink Industry

Distributor For Calgary Brewing Soft Drinks; Visits Pans Weekly.

Cam Burke, of Calgary Stampede hockey club, has taken over the southern Alberta distributing agency for all Calgary Brewing Co. soft drinks with headquarters at Lethbridge.

He was a guest of the Grand Union hotel on Wednesday and was busy throughout the Pans towns placing his product in restaurants, hotels and confectioneries. He is handling Big Orange, Big Lemon, Big Lime, Big Punch and Calgary Dry Ginger Ale. The twelve ounce bottle is now selling at six cents. Two large trucks will bring the soft drinks to the Pans each Wednesday.

A series of advertisements pertaining to these soft drinks will start in The Journal next week.

COLEMAN WELSH FOLK SEND $60 GIFT

Rallying to a recent appeal made by the Calgary Patriotic Group, the Welsh people of Coleman, Alberta have demonstrated their love of country and sympathy with those in their homeland who have been bombed out, in a practical way.

The Coleman Welsh people have sent a cheque for $60 to the president of the Calgary Patriotic Group, Mrs. Helen Evans, who acknowledges the gift with gratitude.—Calgary Herald.

Canada's shipbuilding program involves an expenditure of about $120,000,000. When war began, only 1,500 men were employed in Canadian shipyards. Now over 20,000 workers are employed in 17 major and 45 smaller yards.

Coleman Cleans Up At Blairmore Sports, July 1

Pucksters Win Baseball; Win At Softball; Athletes Win Track Events

Coleman teams and individuals made a regular clean-up at the Blairmore sports on July 1.

Angelo's Pucksters won handsily against the Blairmore nine to take two straight games, 7-3 and 16-2, to win the baseball competition and first-place money. Led by pitcher Tony Forgetti, the local softballers completely dominated the softball competition and won the final 11-0. In this game Forgetti struck out approximately twenty men. A home run featured the Coleman batting onslaught.

In the track events Harry Thomas gained five firsts and a second in six competitions. He gained first place in the 100 and 220 yards dashes, pole vault, broad jump and the hop-step and jump events. He placed second in the 440 yards dash. In the pole vault he cleared eleven feet and was only inches away from the Alberta record.

Arthur White won the high jump for competitors under 19 years. Arnaldo DeLuca placed second to a Calgary runner in the mile open. In the competition for best dressed cars and trucks George Derbyshire won first place in the best dressed patriotic car with his miniature airplane attached to his car with Patriotic decorations. Local citizens have seen the airplane on many occasions at the bank on pay Saturdays.

WEDDINGS

TOLMAN — EASTON
Mr. and Mrs. Alex. L. Easton announce the marriage of their elder daughter, Nora Lawson, to Mr. A. S. Tolman, of Rumsey, Alberta. The marriage took place at Wetaskiwin, May 10. The happy couple will leave for Vancouver, July 2, where Mr. Tolman has secured employment.

REAR — WALKER

A quiet wedding took place at Calgary in Grace Presbyterian manse, on Wednesday, June 18, at 9 p.m., when Mrs. Constantine Walker was united in marriage to Mr. Albert Edward Rear, of Coleman, with Rev. A. Bright conducting. Mrs. L. Fair, of Calgary, attended the bride. The groom was attended by his brother, Lieut. J. Rear, of Inisfail. Following the ceremony a reception was held for immediate friends and relatives at the York hotel.

Turtle Mountain Playground Opens Saturday

Dancing and Swimming Pool to be Scenes of Gala Opening Arcadians Orchestra to Provide Music.

The beautiful Turtle Mountain playground building will be open to the public on Saturday. No expense has been spared and the dance hall, restaurant, swimming pool and the rest of the halls in the building are really worth a visit. The building is air-conditioned throughout and the lighting system is by fluorescent light.

The swimming pool will be filled for the first time and many are expected to take advantage of a swim. Floodlights will illuminate the pool. The dance floor is of hardwood laid on rubber and has a noticeable swing which will add to the rhythm of the dancers. Arcadians orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music.

A huge neon sign with the words "Turtle Mountain Playground" has been erected and with the aid of floodlights will afford bright illumination to the building.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS MUST TRAIN

Alberta war services board rejected practically every plan for exemption from military service entered by self-styled conscientious objectors who wish to evade the four month's required military training. About 30 cases were heard. "The board did not consider the reasons for exemption given by the men as sufficient," said Chief Justice Harvey, chairman of the board. That means the "conchie" will have to undergo the training.

Several Teachers Given Salary Boosts; Discrepancies Righted

Second Class Teachers Receive $1125; First Class Teachers Receive $1170; Miss M. Allan Resigns From High School Staff

Coleman sub-local of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance has completed negotiations with Coleman school board regarding salaries of local teachers.

The teachers asked for a definite salary schedule with minimum salaries and salary increments each year until a maximum is reached. The Board did not see its way clear to this at the present time but offered an alternative whereby certain discrepancies in salaries paid for definite kinds of work would be righted.

The scale finally agreed upon was as follows:

Principal, vice-principal, high school teachers, primary school teachers and the Cameron school principal's salaries would remain as at present.

All second class teachers would receive $1125 per year.

First class teachers' salaries to be $1170 per year.

First class teachers who are teaching any subject in the intermediate grades to be paid $1210 per year.

18 cents bonus per teaching day to be paid all teachers as at present.

It was agreed that the Board and teachers will meet next spring before the requisition is presented to council when the teachers will be privileged to re-open discussion of their proposed salary schedules.

The A.T.A. was represented by Mrs. G. Thomson, Miss E. Wilson, Principal D. Hoyle and J. McDonald.

One resignation was received, that being from Miss M. Allan, high school teacher, who has secured a position in a department of the Alberta university.

Two teachers who had been given a year's leave of absence will be back on the staff next fall, they being Miss Edith Hayson and Miss Megan Jones. The Misses B. Godfrey and M. Johnston, who had been appointed for one year, will retire from the local teaching staff.

Miss Winnifred A. Dunlop,
Capt., 1st Coleman Girl Guide Company,
Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Miss Dunlop:

The Prime Minister has directed me to acknowledge your letter of June 18th, enclosing, on behalf of the First Coleman Girl Guide Company, four War Savings Application Forms complete with stamps. Mr. King wishes me to express to you, and through you to the Guides, his warmest appreciation of this thoughtful generosity and to convey, on his behalf, the thanks of the Government of Canada.

The Prime Minister is sure that you will understand that the heavy pressure of his many duties alone prevents him from writing personally at this time.

Yours faithfully,
H. R. L. HENRY,
Private Secretary.

John Salvador Awarded Two Large Contracts

Hauls Surface Coal From Mountains to Blairmore And Bellevue Tipples; Employs Nine Trucks

John Salvador, local contractor, has recently been awarded two large coal hauling contracts. The contracts have necessitated him employing approximately eighteen men and placing nine large trucks into service.

The larger of the contracts is the one at Blairmore. Here at Grassy Mountain located northwest of Lethbridge he is hauling surface coal to the Blairmore tipple. At Bellevue he is trucking coal from three miles north of Bellevue. He is hauling between 600 and 700 tons daily and the work will continue until the snow flies.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES OF TERROR OF DIVE BOMBERS

Mrs. Robert Axon received a letter from a relative in England in the R.A.F. giving a graphic description of his experiences under a bombardment by German dive bombers. It is too lengthy to publish in full, but there is one part which conveys some idea of the terrorism which the Huns inflict:

Incendiaries rained down and we were kept busy. This was not so bad, but then began hell—the absolute inferno. Not content with high explosives and incendiaries, Jerry began heaping out land mines floating down in parachutes and blowing hell out of everywhere. We were out on the roof and the sky was red. All of a sudden the petty officer in charge shouted like mad—"look out, here comes a land mine." The glare from the numerous fires showed up a menacing parachute, drifting straight at us. We flew inside and lay on the floor, counting our last moments. We were all resigned. The next few seconds were deathly quiet. P. O. said—"It's a dud," but his words were punctuated by a terrible explosion and flash. Everything blew apart. The roof came down on us, the windows blew all over the room, the floor gave way and the whole building collapsed.

By amazing providence, I came round to find I was absolutely unscathed; in fact the only casualty in our party was a man on whom a majority of the bricks fell, and I think he will be alright. Anyhow, we scrambled out, covered with dust and badly shaken, but still intact.

IT'S TIME TO TRY BIG BEN

BIG BEN
The PERFECT Chewing Tobacco

THAT'S MY CHEW

Is It Enough?

In the daily press, from the platform, over the air, through government pamphlets, Canadians are being regaled daily with assorted rows of statistics detailing in various forms and in differing language with the accomplishments of the Canadian war effort covering now nearly two years of the greatest fight in the history of the world.

Each month now there comes to hand a bulletin issued by the Director of Public Information at Ottawa, entitled "Canada at War," a summary of Canada's part in the war since September 10, 1939. "It is intended" states a preliminary note, "to serve as a source of material for speakers and those who ask for up-to-date information about Canada's participation in the war. It will be revised monthly and will contain the most recent of available facts and figures."

Dealing with all aspects of the Canadian war effort, including contributions which have been made to date in the supply of men, materials and resources, the efforts being put forth by Canadians in the theatre of war as well as on the home front, with the result of voluntary organizational departments and boards, the booklet affords a valuable, yet concise compendium of information on the Canadian war achievement to date.

Although apparently designed principally as a handbook for speakers and possibly writers, it is a booklet deserving of study by the general public. Since it is factual, the information it contains can safely be regarded as accurate and the data can be used as a basis for arriving at conclusions without fear of being conclusions on false premises.

This latter is highly important, for while it is possible to arrive at false conclusions based on facts whose veracity cannot be questioned, false premises can never lead to sound opinions. In the gigantic struggle in which this country is playing an important role, it is important as never before, that the people be given straight facts, in order that they may arrive at sound conclusions, for it is only on such a foundation that they can unite in maximum strength for the maximum effort absolutely essential to ultimate victory.

Tempered Satisfaction

There can be no gainsaying the statement that Canada entered the war relatively unprepared with a comparatively weak military establishment, and an industrial plant unequalled to war requirements. Since that time great changes have taken place and much has been accomplished in placing the country on a war time basis and in meeting the requirements imposed upon the country as a partner with others in the Allied drive against world domination by Hitler and his hordes.

It may bring a sense of comfort and satisfaction to read, for instance, that: "Since the outbreak of the war Canada has diverted an ever-increasing portion of her resources, both human and material, into her war effort. The 1941-42 budget provides between 35 and 40 per cent. of the national income for war. More than a quarter million Canadians are serving in the active armed forces abroad and at home. . . . Moreover, Canada's industrial capacity has very largely been turned over to war production in the months since the outbreak of the war."

These are undoubted facts and Canadians are justified in taking some pride in what has been achieved to date, but that pride and satisfaction must be tempered by the knowledge and unquestioned belief that much more must be done, that the tempo of effort must be raised to a higher degree, before it will be possible to say that nothing has been left undone that can be done and that every last sacrifice that can be made by every individual in the nation has been made.

"Canada's war plans for the balance of this year have been made on the basis of consultations held early this year with the heads of Britain's Navy, Army and Air Force, with the Prime Minister Churchill and with other officials in Britain," says the concluding paragraph of a general summary in the booklet referred to, and adds: "Canadian ministers told these officials that Canada's object is a full-out contribution with everything Canada has and as fast as she can give it."

Complete Fulfilment

These words denote that a solemn promise has been made on behalf of the Canadian people and they naturally inspire the question whether or not we have yet reached the stage in our war effort when we can say that this promise has reached fulfilment. That is a personal question and one which every Canadian must ask himself or herself. "Is there something more that I could do that I have not yet done? Is my contribution to the war effort enough? Is there yet some sacrifice that I could make that I have not yet made? Upon the answer to these questions by every individual in the land depends the ultimate outcome of the war effort.

As the Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, said in a recent speech on behalf of the Victory Loan campaign: "We are at war; we must work, fight, win, or perish together."

Large Order For Aluminum

The United States expects to buy 200,000,000 pounds of aluminum from Canada as part of a plan to double the available supply of this essential wartime material in 1942. A few weeks ago the United States placed a $65,000,000 order for aluminum with the Aluminum Company of Canada.

Ready For Emergency

London hotels are much interested in a report that in a recent English provincial blitz a small hotel, when all public utility services were temporarily out of order, was able to serve 600 meals to homeless children. This was because of an alternative kitchen installation by crude oil.

Cause For Indignation

Blitz, blitz: Women in the Midlands have become indignant because some tobaccoists in an effort to conserve cigarettes for men have posted a notice telling them they will not be served because "it's not necessary for women to smoke."

The Trumpets Of Victory

Will Sound For Nations Who Are Fighting For Liberty And Peace
Nine Governments which have lost to Hitler every foot of their territory joined Britain and her dominions in declaring that they will fight him and the man whom Churchill described as his "tattered lackey" until victory is won; that there can be "no settled peace and prosperity" so long as free peoples are violently coerced, and that they will work together to achieve a "world in which, relieved of the menace of aggression, all may enjoy economic and social security."

The laughter of Berlin's tawdry gods may be imagined in advance. What now are Czechoslovakia, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Belgium, Yugoslavia, "free France"? The iron boot has trampled on them all. On their soil only the Quislings are free to speak, and then only to parrot the diabolical preachings of Berchtesgaden.

Berlin may laugh again when the Prime Minister of Britain states his faith "that every trace of Hitler's footsteps, every stain of his infected, corroding fingers will be sponged and purged and, if need be, blasted from the surface of the earth."

But when Berlin's laughter is over there will come, even there, dark watches in the night. This meeting was no hollow ceremony. Confidence and resolution breathed from it. Its members looked with hope westward across the Atlantic. These were not beaten Governments or beaten men. In sacrifice as in valiant words they have proved their worth. Under the flail of fate democracy has come awake. When we give our help and our hands to them we join in no mean cause. Beyond to-day's blackness the trumpets of victory will sound.—New York Times.

Primitive Literature

Very Aptly Describes Egypt By Young Aberdeen Boy

As the ultimate in simplicity—or an example of primitive literature, as the highbrows call it—there is this essay by the Aberdeen boy of 10. It is reproduced from the current issue of Country Life in B.C. The lad was asked to write on Birds and Beasts and this is what he wrote:

"The bird I am going to write about is the owl. The owl can see at all in the daytime, and at night is as blind as a bat. I do not know much about the owl, so I will go on to the beast which I am going to choose. It is the cow.

The cow is a mammal and it is tame. It has six sides, right, left, fore, back, and upper and a below. At the back it has a tail on which hangs a brush. With this it sends flies away, so that they will not fall into the milk.

The head is for the purpose of growing horns, and so that the mouth can be somewhere. The horns are to butt with. The mouth is to moo with.

Under the cow hangs the milk. When people come the milk comes and when people do not come the milk does not come. How the cow does it I have not yet realized, but it makes more and more. The cow has a fine sense of smell. One can smell it far away. This is the reason for the fresh air of the country. When the cow is hungry it mooes, and when it says nothing it is because it's inside is full of grass. It always eats twice so that it can get enough.—Calgary Albertan.

Bacon Price Increased

Export Bacon Jumps 75 Cents Per Hundred Pounds

Close on the heels of a request that Canadians eat less bacon and pork products during the summer, the bacon board announced an increase of 75 cents per 100 pounds in the price to be paid for bacon exported to the United Kingdom. The recent increase brought the price for top grade export bacon to $18.60 per 100 pounds.

The increase followed a price boost of 75 cents a hundredweight for grade A No. 1 sizeable Wiltshire sides on May 30, and a previous rise of $1 per 100 pounds on May 1. The new price is applicable to all products put into cure for export. According to previous announcements this advance in bacon prices will be borne by the consumer.

Egg Market Strong

Britain May Require A Large Supply Of Eggs

Indications are that Great Britain will require an increasingly large supply of eggs from Canada during the third year of the war. The Dominion Department of Agriculture believes it is now too late to prepare for this demand through the purchase of baby chicks, but a great deal can be done by a careful selection and carrying over of all available laying stock. There is a noticeable tendency at the present time on the part of poultry producers to reduce laying flocks, the marketing of fowl being quite heavy during the first two weeks in June.

While systematic culling is desirable at all times, the present situation would not appear to warrant heavy reductions. There has been no break in the price of eggs and all indications point to a particularly strong market during the summer months of this year.

While it is true that a great many yearlings were kept over last fall and in the ordinary course of events now is the time when two year olds, and birds that have completed their lay, should go to market. Poultry producers, however, would be well advised to look over their yearling stock carefully and to retain for laying purposes all birds which are physically fit and such condition as to insure a maximum egg production during the next 12 months.

SELECTED RECIPES

BEEF STEAK PIE

2 pounds roast steak
1½ cups sliced onions
½ cup fat
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons flour
2½ cups water
2 cups sliced raw potatoes
1 recipe All-Brain pastry
Cut meat into one-inch cubes, add onion and brown in fat. Stir in seasonings, parsley and flour; mix well. Add water slowly, stirring constantly. Add potatoes; cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Pour into greased casserole. Cover with All-Brain pastry, rolled ¼ inch thick. Prick with fork to indicate wedge-shaped pieces. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: Six servings (8½-inch casserole).

All-Brain Pastry

½ cup Kellogg's All-Brain
1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
4 tablespoons cold water (more or less)
Combine All-Brain with flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water a little at a time, until dough is stiff enough to hold together. Roll out on lightly floured board to about ¼ inch thickness.

A Perfect Memory

Good Story Told About Indian On Kentucky

The story is told of a Kentucky colonel who had an argument with Satan. The devil said that no person had a perfect memory. The colonel maintained there was an Indian on his plantation who never forgot anything. The colonel agreed to forfeit his soul to the devil if the Indian ever forgot anything.

The devil went up to the Indian and said: "Do you like eggs?" To which the Indian replied, "Yes." The devil went away. Twenty years later the old colonel died. The devil thought, "Aha, here's my chance."

The devil returned to earth and presented himself before the Indian. Raising his hand, the devil gave the tribal salutation, "How?"

"Quick as a wink the Indian replied, "Fried."

India Is United

No Leader Will Do Anything To Help Nazis Win

To all but a few Canadians, India is still the fabulous land—a sleeping giant dreaming of the past. Actually, the giant is awake to-day and fighting mad. This is vouchered for by Malik Sir Firoz Khan Noon, high commissioner for India in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, who recently arrived in Toronto. "No matter what the diversity of creed or race, cast or political belief, all India is united in its utter detestation of the totalitarian forms of government in Europe and Asia," he said. "No Indian leader (and this includes Mahatma Gandhi) will do anything that will help the Nazis to victory," he emphasized.

Need Skilled Men

Present Personnel Of Canadian Army Second To None, Says Adjutant-General

"In this war it takes more than a uniform to make a soldier," Major-General B. W. Browne, D.S.O., M.C., Adjutant-General, and the man at the head of the organization that looks after the personnel of the army, and personal welfare of the individual soldier, stated recently in a radio broadcast, appealing for more men for the army.

It takes a long time to train men for a modern mechanized army and time to provide equipment. That is why so much emphasis is placed on training, and why Canadian soldiers are being fully trained before going overseas. It is also the reason that skilled men are wanted, and that organization within the army has been set up to train unskilled men, the Adjutant-General explained.

Commenting on the type of men who have signed up and who are signing up at present, Major-General Browne stated that this country may well be proud of its army, and compared with the men who fought in the last war, they will not fail to give an equally good account of themselves.

Suited To Our Time

Prayer Made By Francis Drake More Than 500 Years Ago

One April day more than 500 years ago a man made a prayer to God as he was about to set forth upon a great and hazardous expedition. His name was Francis Drake and he was bound for Cadiz, where lay many ships intended for the Spanish Armada. The havoc he wrought among them is history. His prayer before setting out is also history.

"O Lord God, when Thou givest Thy servants to endeavor any great matter, grant us also to know that it is not the beginning but the continuing of the same until it be thorough the glory, through Him that through the finishing of Thy work laid down His life."

The prayer of Drake's was used in many churches in Britain during a recent national day of prayer. There is a phrase in it which may well serve as the Empire's motto at this time: "Continuing of the same until it be thoroughly finished."—Toronto Star.

Gone Too Far Wrong

Prince Bernhard Sees No Chances For Return Of Old Germany

Prince Bernhard, husband of Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, son of one of the oldest families in Germany, who became "100 per cent. Dutch" when he married the Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, declared at Boston that the German people have gone so far wrong under the Nazi regime that, in his opinion, it is virtually impossible for the old Germany of culture and learning to be reborn even after the Reich's "defeat."

The Prince Consort, who was the Prince zu Lippe-Beistein before he married the heiress to the Netherlands throne in the pre-war days of 1937, asserted there was nothing but bitterness in his heart for his former Fatherland. He is now an honorary officer in Britain's Royal Air Force and works from morning to night for the Allied cause.

"I don't think there is any chance of the old Germany coming back," he said. "It would take years to get the German people straight."

"They had their chances before Hitler came into power. Since they didn't take them—since they have gone along with what has been done—I think they are going to have to take what is coming to them when Germany is defeated."

Prince Bernhard's first tribute was to the English people. He said that "everything you read of their courage is true."

"In the days of the terrible September raids the Government gave £50,000 and a large quantity of clothing for relief of the poor people of East End," he related. "I was there two times a day in connection with the distribution. I'd try to comfort them and they'd say: 'We're quite all right—do tell us how are your wife and children?'"

Reduced To Eating Weeds

The Germans are now reduced to eating weeds. Housewives are being urged to gather dandelions, chickweed, nettles, and other wild plants for use in soups, gravy and vegetable dishes. The claim is made that daisies have more vitamin C, more minerals and salts than most domestic vegetables.

Supposed to have strengthening and tonic qualities, sharks' fins are a Chinese table delicacy.

Lord Beaverbrook Has Been Appointed Minister Of Supply

London.—Prime Minister Churchill, shuffling his cabinet for the second time in two months to take swift advantage of Hitler's Russian campaign, appointed Lord Beaverbrook minister of supply, with responsibility for one of the most important posts in the British war machine.

Simultaneously, Mr. Churchill abolished the post of minister of state, which Lord Beaverbrook was given in the cabinet changes of May 2 and in which "The Beaver" had been called vice-prime minister.

Lord Beaverbrook replaced Sir Andrew Rae Duncan as minister of supply. Sir Andrew went back to his post as president of the board of trade, replacing Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, who was selected for "special duties abroad." Sir Andrew will continue as chairman of the import authority.

The eight-member war cabinet previously had not included the minister of supply, but the Canadian-born peer, who quadrupled Britain's plane output as minister of air production, retains his important place in the war cabinet under the new set-up.

He was given wide responsibility for making war goods in all of Britain's factories.

The prime minister's action was interpreted almost unanimously as meaning Mr. Churchill was placing a new and greater emphasis upon increasing the speed of production of war materials to take the fullest advantage of Germany's engagement against Russia.

Well-posted circles said Lord Beaverbrook had been assigned to the new post because Mr. Churchill felt he would be most useful there.

"The ministry of supply now is certainly one of the most important in the British Empire," one source said.

Lord Beaverbrook's duties as referee on priority questions were taken over by Labor Minister Ernest Bevin. Other minor tasks were given to other officials because, it was believed, of the demands the new post will make upon Lord Beaverbrook's time.

Commentators expressed little surprise at the call for Lord Beaverbrook to take over the vital supply job.

The Press association observed that the cabinet changes "are but underlinings of repeated warnings by government spokesmen that the Russian-German conflict, far from providing cause for relaxation, is an opportunity for Britain to make up the leeway in production."

"From now on, it will be full speed ahead," with Beaverbrook the dynamic captain on the bridge of our ship of arms production."

Regarding Capt. Lyttelton's new post, the Press association said there were big questions of war production in the United States, but "Americans can be trusted to look after those themselves and so it would appear more likely that South American trade developments" might have his attention.

"Wheat, meat and other things in South America must be considered," it said. "Such developments would link up with the big scheme for amassing food reserves in Australia and New Zealand."

Help For War Guests

Independent Order of Odd Fellows Has Sent Second Cheque

Toronto.—A cheque for $7,300, for British war guests in Canada, was received by Dr. Charles, Cammell, deputy minister of mines and resources, Ottawa, from the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The presentation was made by Grand Master C. M. Iredale at the annual banquet of the organization here. The cheque was the second presented to the government by the Odd Fellows, the first being for $10,000.

Say German Offensive Against Russia Was Planned For Last Fall

New York.—Trustworthy sources have told the Associated Press that Germany's offensive against Russia was planned originally for last autumn.

There also were suggestions that the plan actually was behind the invasion of Poland, having been thwarted by the British-French declaration of war when Hitler had believed they would not fight.

But the reports only went back as far as last fall, when intimations of the German plan, reaching Moscow, were said to have been responsible for Soviet Premier Molotov's sudden journey to see Hitler last November, after which Nazi pressure veered southward into the Balkans.

Mussolini's premature launching of war against Greece also was considered a factor in Hitler's change of plan.

As told by persons in a good position to know, the course of developments was about as follows:

Germany never trusted the Soviet government, despite the Russo-German non-aggression pact, and this distrust—as much as a desire to obtain bases against Britain—prompted Hitler to venture the Norwegian campaign.

Later, her hand busy with the war in France, Germany acquiesced when Russia annexed the three Baltic states, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, thereby eliminating a buffer area protecting East Prussia.

As a result of the Russian occupation of the Baltic states, Germany evacuated many thousands of German nationals and persons of German race, including families whose homes had been there since the days of the Teutonic knights.

But all this was extremely distasteful to Germany.

Then came plausible reports Russia was pouring even larger forces into Soviet-occupied Poland as well as into the Baltic states. Germany accordingly strengthened her forces in East Prussia and German-occupied Poland, this movement continuing even into last December, parallel with tense Balkan developments.

Meanwhile, after the fall of France, Germany had obtained agreement from Sweden and Finland for the transit of troops across their territories.

Finland was acutely worried over recurrent incidents on the Russo-Finnish frontier and began to view Germany as a power whose help might be vital in the future.

With the transit agreement signed, arms and planes began arriving in Finland from Germany, including field kitchens and artillery captured from the French. Loans from Sweden helped the Finns finance new defence construction, and Sweden closed to their government predicted Sweden would fight with Finland this time if the Russians again attacked.

Germany also was ready to act, and the conflict was expected in October—but something happened to alter her plans; either some Russian move or the premature outbreak of hostilities in Greece.

In any case, German troops already were moving through Finland, with easy striking distance of the Russian border.

Turkish Ship Sunk

Torpedoed By Submarine, With Heavy Loss Of Life

New York.—The Turkish steamship Rifa, carrying officers and men described as the "cream of the Turkish navy and mercantile marine," was torpedoed and sunk by an unidentified submarine, Martin Agronsky, NBC reporter, said in a broadcast from Ankara. He reported 173 of the 201 passengers on the ship were lost.

Agronsky said 100 Turkish naval officers and men aboard the Rifa were en route to Britain.

Survivors said the torpedo broke the ship in two and that only one lifeboat could be launched, and in this 28 passengers were saved, the commentator reported.

The Turkish government had made arrangements with both Germany and Italy to ensure safe passage of the vessel, he added.

Agronsky said "the incident aroused considerable popular feeling, here as the Turkish ship carried an illuminated Turkish flag on her stern and illuminated flag on both her sides."

Ship War Supplies

Cargoes Moving To The Red Sea To Aid Army Of The Nile

Washington.—Loose-lead cargoes in "enormous amount" are moving into the Red Sea—presumably for the British and Imperial Army of the Nile.

Consignments have also gone to Rangoon, one port of entry for supplies destined for China by way of the Burma road.

These disclosures came during testimony before the senate commerce committee on a house-approved bill that would place virtually all merchant ships operating from the United States under the maritime commission's control as to cargo, destination and operations.

One line reported that a large part of its 32-ship fleet had been used to carry "lease-lend cargo to the Red Sea." Another reported three en route there, three more going, with other vessels in a fleet of 23 carrying supplies to the Far East. A third listed four ships sent to the Red Sea, one to Rangoon and 16 others serving the defence program on other routes.

Raider Sunk

Powerful German Motorship Elbe Attacked By British Fleet Plane

New York.—The German motorship passenger liner Elbe, 9,179 tons, which slipped out of Kobe, Japan, last February reportedly to raid shipping, has been attacked by a British fleet plane in the North Atlantic and probably sunk, maritime sources said.

They said the attack took place about 900 miles northwest of the Cape Verde islands and 1,300 miles west of Villa Cisneros, Rio de Oro, West Africa.

The powerful and fast Elbe was used by the North German Lloyd line for its pre-war German-Japan service.

Russain Oil And Wheat

Germany May Not Be Able To Benefit For Some Time

London.—Germany's attempt to obtain Russian oil and wheat would not be productive for a year even if she won a quick victory, a Russian authority on Soviet economies declared. He expressed belief the primary purpose of the German invasion may not be economic, but rather military and political, and pointed out the eastern war had closed the Vladivostok "leak" through which the British authorities say Germany has been importing fats and oils at a rate of 400,000 tons a year via Siberia.

Likewise, the moment they launched the invasion, the Germans were cut off from purely Russian supplies. Even though they may be able to occupy the Ukraine and the Caucasus they probably will not be able to benefit from this year's harvest, the expert said. He said a delay of five to six weeks would be sufficient to ensure this.

The Russians, in retreating, could also destroy or carry away their existing stocks of wheat and make their oil-producing equipment useless.

Too Much Confidence

People Should Be Awake To The Seriousness Of War

Ottawa.—Fresh from London, where for six years he served as councillor at Canada House, Lester E. Pearson told a Canadian Club luncheon audience to get away from the idea that Britain could not lose the war.

People should not rely on the assurance "There'll always be an England" or "Don't worry, Britain always wins the last battle," or "Time is on our side," Mr. Pearson said.

"Time is on our side only if we take advantage of it," he declared. "We might lose the last battle without knowing it was the last battle."

"I can see no advantage in parroting either in Ottawa or London that we cannot lose this war. Of course we can lose this war. Any empire can lose any war and the sooner we all realize that fact the sooner will we be certain that we will not lose the war."

"If we had been convinced just before 1939 that war was inevitable then there might have been no war."

Sir Stafford Cripps Rewarded

London.—Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia, has been made a member of the privy council.

German Army Faces A Heavy Task In Invasion Of Russia

New York.—The German army may gain "early sweeping initial successes" against Russia, but Russia can never be overrun or conquered by military measures alone, Maj.-Gen. F. S. Beaumont-Nesbitt, military attaché at the British embassy at Washington, said.

A former director of military intelligence in the British army and a member of the Russian section of the war office from 1926 to 1930, General Beaumont-Nesbitt became convinced as early as last November that Hitler would strike at the U.S.S.R.

"But no one believed me in those days," he said.

He said during an interview that he was convinced the strategy of the German high command would be to conduct defensive operations in the north in an attempt to close the Baltic ports to the Soviets and, at the same time, to throw all available forces into a gigantic offensive for the Ukraine and the fertile belt to the south which contains most of the resources of Russia, including wheat lands, coal and iron deposits, vegetable oil, manganese and so on.

Control of this vast and fabulously rich area would only be possible through control of the north shore of the Black sea. It might be necessary for the Germans to extend their sphere of influence as far as Stalingrad on the Volga to give them complete control of all transport facilities from the Baku and Caucasian oil fields.

While this might be the objective of the German high command, General Beaumont-Nesbitt was not at all sure it would be possible of attainment.

He said it was quite possible the Germans would overrun vast sections of Russia in initial penetration but to knock out the Red army "would be one hell of a job."

He believed it would be quite possible for the Germans to capture large areas of western and southern Russia and still leave Russia more or less intact as a political entity.

Until the end of September the Germans would have almost perfect weather for blitzkrieg tactics over a country that is flat and open, he said, but it should be remembered the Russian army for generations has been best on defence.

From an Allied point of view, it was an advantage for the Germans to be using their strength to battle Russia, the general said. Germans would be killed, machines would be destroyed, supplies wasted, transport worn and the German army stretched over a wide territory.

But, on the debit side, was the possibility that Hitler would gain control of Russia's wheat, oil, manganese—products he needed desperately and possession of which would weaken, if not nullify, the effect of the blockade.

Could Help Russia

Canada's Large Surplus Wheat Stocks Would Supply Food

Ottawa.—Trade Minister MacKinnon foresaw the possibility the Russian wheat harvest, especially in the Ukraine, would be hampered by war operations and said Canada, with large surplus wheat stocks, would be in a position to help Russia with food supplies if required.

The minister said information available to Dominion statistical authorities showed the Russian wheat areas in the last four years approximated 100,000,000 acres. Ukrainian and Caucasian acreage was about 47,500,000 and as yields in these areas ran higher than in other parts of the country, half of Russia's total production was located there.

Protect Merchant Ships

Provide New Type Of Guns For Low Flying Planes

Auckland, N.Z.—A new type of short-range anti-aircraft gun is being provided for merchant ships with specially trained gun crews, to deal with low-flying planes, Vice-Admiral Royle, former fifth sea lord, stated here while en route to become chief of the Australian naval staff.

Long-range bombers have been flying exceedingly low, just above the sea-level, and Admiral Royle said the new guns being fitted on the ships were the answer. He has been conferring with New Zealand government officials here before proceeding to Australia.

Volunteers For Service

New York.—Adolf Hitler's sister-in-law has volunteered for service with the British war relief. She is Mrs. Bridget Elizabeth Hitler, Irish-born wife of the Nazi dictator's brother, Alois. Mrs. Hitler is seeking an annulment charging her husband deserted in 1914.

To Hold Conference For Discussion Of The Wheat Situation

Ottawa.—Representatives of the four major wheat-exporting countries, troubled by the weight of grain surplus now on hand, will meet in Washington on July 10 to discuss questions relating to international trade in wheat after the war. Trade Minister MacKinnon said. The conference was decided on some weeks ago, and invitations were sent out by United States, Canada, with a wheat surplus of 500,000,000 bushels, expressed readiness to take part in the discussions.

Mr. MacKinnon said officials of Canada, United States, Argentina and Australia will attend, and the United Kingdom, as the principal wheat importing country will be represented.

"The purpose of the meeting will be to exchange information and views as to steps which might be taken to safeguard against excessive competition for markets following the conclusion of hostilities," Mr. MacKinnon said.

Canadian officials who will attend the conference have not yet been named, but it is expected that George Melvor, chief commissioner, Canadian wheat board would be the principal Canadian representative along with R. V. Biddulph, European commissioner of the Canadian wheat board. Dr. C. F. Wilson, chief, agricultural statistics, Dominion bureau of statistics, and representatives of the departments of agriculture and external affairs.

Washington.—The United States agriculture department reported world supplies of wheat for the marketing year beginning July 1 were expected to surpass the 1939 record of 3,508,000,000 bushels.

This year's crop was forecast at about the same as last year's production of 4,042,000,000 bushels, but reserves of old grain were said to be the largest on record, due principally to the war's restriction of export trade.

Production in the northern hemisphere may not be very different the department said. From the 3,608,000,000 bushels produced last year, increases in Europe and United States were expected to about offset decreases in Canada and the Orient.

Present crop prospects in Europe indicated a production larger than the small crop of about 1,350,000,000 bushels harvested last year, but still below the 10-year (1931-40) average of 1,573,000,000. Prospects were said to be poorest in the Balkans.

Production in the southern hemisphere may possibly total between 25,000,000 and 50,000,000 bushels, more than last year's crop of about 435,000,000 bushels, the department said.

The Canadian surplus was said to total about 540,000,000 bushels, or the largest quantity ever carried over by a single nation. The department said that if Canada did not produce a bushel of wheat in 1941 and 1942, its surplus would be almost sufficient to care for the country's domestic needs for the two years and in addition provide exports equal to the average in the five-years (1935-39) period.

NAME OF POST OFFICE SHOULD BE INCLUDED WHEN MAILING TO TROOPS STILL IN CANADA

The incomplete addressing of mail intended for soldiers at training centres in Canada is the cause of numerous delays in delivery. Honourable William P. Mulock, Postmaster General, to obviate this situation, again requests the full co-operation of the public in writing out in full the correct and complete address on all military mail.

It is essential that the Post Office place-name should always be included in the addresses of mail posted to soldiers still in Canada because their mail is handled by the civil post offices and not by the Army Postal Service. The omission of the "name of place where the soldier is located" has resulted in many such letters and parcels being forwarded to the Base Post Office, where it is found that the Units named in the address are still in Canada. The resultant delay thus caused, and the extra work thrown upon the Canadian Postal Corps in locating the addressees of this mail would be entirely eliminated if the rules of correct addressing are observed.

Mail for delivery in Canada should be addressed with the usual complete particulars—Regimental Number, Rank and Name, Name and details of Unit (i.e., Company or Section, Squadron, Battery, Holding Unit, etc.) and Name of Regiment or branch of the Service, in full; and the NAME OF THE POST OFFICE WHERE THE SOLDIER'S UNIT IS LOCATED.

Mail for Delivery Overseas should bear the Regimental Number, Rank and Name of Soldier, Name and Details of Unit, (i.e., Company or Section, Squadron, Battery, Holding Unit, etc.) Name of Regiment or branch of the Service in full—and the words Canadian Army Overseas, but no place-name should be given.

All letters should be fully prepaid, and a return address should be given in the upper left-hand corner.

PUT TO MUSIC

It is said that people who stammer often sing well. A deckhand who suffered from an impediment in his speech ran to the captain and started: "P-please, s-s-sir."

"For goodness sake, hurry up," said the captain, irritably. "If you can't say it, sing it!"

The deckhand took a very long breath and sang: "Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind; the first mate's fallen overboard; he's half a mile behind."

Theatre Notes

At the Palace this week-end will be shown the famous Louis-Corn fight pictures. This film has been "packing 'em in" at Bellevue during the past week. The highlights are filmed in slow motion and every blow struck is clearly shown. In the twelfth round Louis is visibly tired and hurt as Corn lands hard rights and lefts which shake Louis' head. The thirteenth round is also a thriller as Corn starts to mix things freely. He is seen to slow up and the kill can be seen several seconds before the knockout punch is landed by Louis.

The supporting film is a good comedy. Franchot Tone and Ann Sothern give a fine performance. Tone's hobby is being an amateur detective and the story is about the murders of a bathing beauty and the beauty pageant's sponsor. How Tone runs down the murderer is both thrilling and entertaining.

CAUSE FOR ENVY

Municipal treasurers in Ontario may find cause for envy if they read the 1940 financial statement of the City Hydro of Winnipeg. Expenditures totalled $3,387,772. This left an earned surplus of $487,576, and from this surplus the City Hydro contributed $377,000 to the general fund of the city—in addition to payment of regular taxes.

In the past three years Winnipeg's financial burden has been lightened by $839,000 from similar contributions made from the City Hydro's earnings. Ontario cities and towns served by local hydro commissions linked with the provincial system have no record of any comparable relief for the taxpayer. Under the terms of the provincial assessment act, hydro properties are taxable on the basis of land assessment alone; the enterprises are exempt from business tax and taxes on improvements. Earned surpluses are used for the benefit of hydro customers alone. Property-owners and private business have to pay higher taxes because of the hydro exemptions.

The Ontario Municipal Association has been urging for some time that publicly-owned utilities should be taxed on the same basis as if they were private commercial undertakings. Winnipeg's example illustrates the soundness of their argument.

Canada's first infantry tank has been turned out. Production program calls for 800 infantry tanks and about 1,000 cruiser tanks.

TIMELY INFORMATION

Herbert Morrison, Home Secretary for Britain, has spiked the statement circulated recently, that shipment overseas of woollen comforts and supplies takes up needed shipping space and that Canadians should send money instead of relief material for Britain's civil defence. If a cable to Norman Somerville, chairman central council, Canadian Red Cross Society, Mr. Morrison states:

"Glad to be able to remove misapprehension about civil defence comforts scheme. Please convey to the Canadian Red Cross my deep and grateful appreciation of their unstinted help to our civilian army of anti-air raid defenders through the supplies which they are sending to the civil defence comforts scheme. Canada's gifts of money are greatly valued. No less so is the stream of comforts knitted by devoted hands all over the Dominion. Tucked away in the corners of ships among the munitions you send up, these comforts add a touch of warm human kindness to the grimmer contributions made by your great country to the common effort. These comforts will be used as a central reserve from which to supply heavily attacked areas. I desire neither gifts in cash or in kind to be interrupted and I hope this reassurance removes all difficulties." (Signed) Herbert Morrison.

Since the beginning of the year, the Canadian Red Cross overseas has distributed to bombed civilians and fighting forces some 1,211,657 articles which was more than the total distribution of 1940. In addition 225,666 articles of relief clothing were given out and 502,660 surgical dressings.

MANY AIRMEN AT EDMONTON FOR TRAINING

A fledgling invasion will descend on Edmonton at an early date, when 2,000 new airmen will base in the city for training at the new training depot to be opened at various school buildings and the Exhibition grounds. Air Commodore A. T. Cowley, Regina, has been in the city supervising arrangements. He was grateful for the co-operation shown by the provincial and civic authorities, he told newsmen. The new school will boost Edmonton's total population beyond the 95,000, since the normal figure, exclusive of "floating" population, is now more than 95,000.

When the war began, strength of the Canadian Navy was 13 ships and 3,000 men. Its strength is now 200 vessels and 17,000 men.

Vacation Delights In Old World Setting

Tourists who previously found the time-mellowed cities of Europe the answer to their vacation problems are today enjoying those same old world delights on their own side of the Atlantic. In old Quebec City where practically every vacation spot and pastime, including golf, tennis, fishing and hunting, combined with the most up-to-date accommodation, awaits the visitor in a medieval setting unique on the North American continent. Easily accessible by Canadian Pacific rail lines from Montreal, New York, Boston, and other large eastern centres, Quebec is experiencing one of the liveliest seasons in its 300 years of history. The opportunity of attending service in century-old churches, rambling through narrow, cobbled streets, over long-stanced battlefields, and seeing the colorful "habitant" at work in the fields, is a rare privilege in the new world, and one that Quebec alone can offer. The ancient dwellings of Quebec's "Lower Town" stand out in sharp contrast to the modern grace of the Chateau Frontenac, popular headquarters for the Quebec visitor. This famed Canadian Pacific hostelry is starting point for many a delightful sight-seeing tour by bus, cab, lofty, horse-drawn caleche. With easy distance lie the historic

Plains of Abraham, the Citadel, the ancient city wall, the Green Gates, numerous monuments and other interesting landmarks. Farther afield the tourist is drawn to the picturesque Isle of Orleans, where tappers still sow by hand, plow by oxen, reap with the scythe and thresh with the flail, while women ply ancient hand-looms and spinning wheels. Other nearby attractions include Wolfe's Cove, Quebec Bridge, the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, Montmorency Falls and Kent House, while northward lies the famed Laurentides Park, a vast area of virgin lake, forest and stream country where vacation delights await at every turn.

FASHION NOTE

A friend reports that his wife recently bought a pair of slacks for wear while working in the garden. She found the idea good, and the first day that she wore them she remarked to her husband: "You're no idea how comfortable they are." His answer was: "My dear, I have. I've worn themselves myself for years."

RED CROSS SENDS FRUIT TO BRITAIN

Three hundred thousand pounds of Canada's fruits will be sent to Britain in the form of jam by the Canadian Red Cross Society during the season of 1941. Red Cross Branches and the Women's Institutes in fruit growing districts all over Canada are now organizing canning kitchens to preserve the fruits this summer and fall. Cans, labels and cartons are being supplied by the Red Cross and the Women's Institutes members are giving the fruit, sugar and labour.

TOURISTS WARNED NOT TO BECOME TOO FAMILIAR WITH BEARS

A tourist coming along the Enshaw lake locality, slowed his car to watch two black cub bears and their mother alongside the road. The old bear thinking there was something to eat in the outstretched hand through the car window, ran alongside the moving car and made a swipe with its paw, striking the man over the eyebrow that resulted in five stitches. —Banff Crag & Canyon.

WHERE THE PROFITS GO

Further evidence that fortunes are not being made in Canada out of the war is seen in the financial statement of the Dominion Textile Company for the year ending March 31. This company has been tremendously busy with war contracts. Its total net income was $6,388,502, of which $4,192,455 was paid in income and excess profits taxes, and $2,034,145 was left as the net profit. That is to say, the division was two to one in favor of the government. As a matter of fact, there were other charges to be met out of net profits, and the amount paid to shareholders was $1,485,842.

This company makes, not only material for military clothing, but numerous other war supplies as well, including tire fabrics for mechanized equipment, and materials for tents, tarpaulins, gun-covers, kit bags, camouflage netting and other equipment.

Edmonton needs 1,000 new homes now. According to Edmonton real estate dealers, "scores of families in the city are living in dilapidated or emergency quarters which should not be tolerated in a progressive Canadian city. Residential accommodation is taxed to capacity. House-owners are reluctant to sell because of high rents they're receiving." Large numbers of potential home owners cannot build or buy because of the substantial cash payments demanded. It is believed that some form of housing aimed at relieving the situation among smaller wage groups is the greatest need.

Something Quite New

Saying It With Onions Has Become Popular In Britain

That anyone anywhere should go into raptures over an onion may sound strange to those in Canada, who are familiar with the broad expanses of muck and other soils devoted to the growth of this crop, or to the housewife who buys these tasty bulbs at the corner store. In Britain where emphasis is now placed on the production of crops which yield most food per acre, the onion has been relegated to a position of lesser importance in the national economy. Besides, the crop on the restricted areas was a failure last year, and the onion has become as rare as the banana over there.

A letter from a home in Glasgow acknowledged receipt of a gift of onions from Ontario. They had to be shared with others, some going to relatives in Aberdeen, while the man of the house took one choice specimen to the office and showed members of the staff what an onion looks and smells like! Saying it with onions sounds like something new.

Does Not Sound Attractive

Doctor Tells How You May Live To Be A Hundred

The St. Thomas Times-Journal says: An American physician advises everybody to take a day, or most of a day in bed every week, exclusive, we presume, of the extra hour or so on Sundays, because he must not put a ban on churchgoing. With that advice we cordially agree — only it "can't be did." But another doctor comes to bat with this order: Eat less of everything, especially pies, pastries, cakes, sauces, fried food, highly seasoned foods, dishes you specially like; abstain from alcohol at all times, don't smoke, don't drink hot drinks or cold ones; go to bed early and take it easy at work. If you do that, sez he, you'll live to be 100, provided you have a fairly sound constitution.

His advice may be good, but who wants to live to be 100 without having plenty of pie?

Now is the time to tear into work so hard that the boss will miss you while you are on vacation.

An Old Objective

Hitler's Plan For Merging Europe And Africa Not Altogether New

It may be that the anticipated early announcement of German plans for a "European empire," a merging of continental Europe and at least the northern part of Africa as a single economic unit, is the result of Hitler's feeling that some such action is necessary to meet the growing co-operation among the British Commonwealth, the United States, the Belgian, Free French, Dutch and other colonies.

But that is not the whole story. This self-sufficient European combination is an old objective of Nazi politics. It is an inherent part of the dream of a central and dominant German core, surrounded by satellite states such as France and Italy, controlling the rest of Europe and exploiting the future which Hitler has taken over from such experts as that Prof. Haushofer who was the friend of Hitler and who has been reported to have been arrested since Hess fled to Britain.

It would be a most unhappy, if temporarily powerful, combination. Just think of the conditions under which the Poles, the Dutch, the Danes, the Norwegians and others are living and picture them in even more terrible form in France's African colonies and you have something of the story. The report from Vichy that Hitler and Stalin had arranged at a secret meeting that the Ukraine would serve as the "breadbasket" of the new autarchy is just a further evidence that the forces of oppression are being thoroughly organized. — Sault Daily Star.

The Poet's Inspiration

Story Of A Soldier In An English Military Hospital

This true story is told by a Birmingham soldier on leave from a northern military hospital. A poet was among the injured men in battle dress who had to be taken to the operating theatre. As he came round from the anaesthetic he murmured: "Give me a pencil and paper. I have an inspiration."

Five minutes passed before writing material could be found. Then it was too late. "I had the most wonderful poem in my head, waiting to be written down, but now it's all gone," whispered the soldier poet. "But perhaps it may come back to me later."

A few days later he had another operation, and remembering his inspiration produced under anaesthetic, the soldier in charge had pencil and paper ready, to press into his hand as he returned to consciousness. "Write whatever is in your mind," he was urged. Still half-dazed, the poet scrawled his pencil over the pad, then stopped. They looked over his shoulder. He had written, "What a horrible smell!"

Cure For Worry

English Surgeon Performs Operation On Worried Patient

You can be operated on to cure your worries.

An English surgeon operated on the brain of a man who was excessively worried.

All that was necessary was to make a cut in the temple, so as to separate the worry centres of the brain from the emotional centres. After the operation, the man's character was completely changed. He had been brusque and morose. Afterwards, he was happy and gay.

People who worry unduly about the air-raids may be cured if the operation comes into general use. But doctors say there is one danger about it.

The cure is so complete that patients will not worry at all about anything. They will not be able to. They might become irresponsible.

Plenty To Worry About

On Men In Canada Is Fed Up With Persistent Beavers

Mr. Aug Hoffman deserves just a moment of your time and a lot of your sympathy. His job is to maintain bridges on the Canadian National Railways through Algonquin park, and he could do it, too, but for the beavers. The Vancouver Sun tells the story of Mr. Hoffman's difficulties.

The beavers dammed up the streams against the railway tracks, and when Mr. Hoffman rigged up a water wheel, with tin cans on it to frighten the beavers, they just shoved a pole between the spokes and stopped it. After that they covered the wheel with sticks and mud.

Then Mr. Hoffman left a lantern shining to scare the beavers away at night, but they covered it up, too. And imposed a blackout.

Mr. Hoffman put a culvert 12 feet long to carry off the water that he had piled up behind the beavers' dam, and the beavers just plugged up the culvert.

Mr. Hoffman put a fence around the dam and the beavers away and the dam was built up higher, which we would call a "dam" to injury.

This is the beaver, the national mascot and accepted representative of Canada. We are sorry for Mr. Hoffman, but we are rather cheered up in these times to hear that the beaver is the kind of fellow who sticks to the job. — Calgary Albertan.

Bombed Out

Two London Newspapers Suffer From Recent Raid

The London News Chronicle and The Star, which are published in the same plant, were bombed out in a recent raid but neither missed an edition.

The censor permitted publication of the fact that a large amount of machinery in the plant in Bouverie street was destroyed by two direct hits, one a high-explosive bomb and the other a big oil bomb. There were no casualties.

The Daily Sketch offered its plant facilities, and the two papers went to the rival establishment to continue publication. The News Chronicle is a morning paper, The Star an evening paper.

Dropped From Plane

Eye Glasses Belonging To Air Instructor Found Unbroken

While working in his garden, A. Stewart Clark, Hamilton, Ont., picked up a pair of eye glasses, and the solution he came to was "the glasses were in the centre of the garden, and the only place they could have come from was a plane."

On investigating further he discovered that W. C. Warren, chief instructor at a nearby airfield, had lost the glasses the day before as he helped scatter Victory Loan circulars over the city.

His glasses were returned unbroken.

SIMPLE SLIP FOR LARGER WOMEN

By Anne Adams

You'll need a plentiful supply of dainty slips to wear beneath your sheer summer frocks! Pattern 4763 has been planned with a double purpose by Anne Adams—to conform to the mature figure with smooth perfection AND to simplify dressmaking. The back is cut in just one piece—straps and all, with darts at the waist to insure neat lines. Now turn to the front and see the long panel that gives such easy fit. To avoid any bulkiness or wrinkling at the waist, the waistband has been placed high. And above the seaming there are soft, gathered side bodice sections that give plenty of freedom without pulling or stretching. Add lace edging for a full measure of femininity!

Pattern 4763 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 2½ yards 39 inch fabric and 3¼ yards lace edging.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Agency, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 6

THE GOSPEL IS TAKEN INTO EUROPE

Golden text: Come over into Macedonia, and help us. Acts 16:9.
Lesson: Acts 15:36-18:21.
Devotional reading: Philippians 4:4-9.

Explanations and Comments

A Turning Point In The History Of The World; The Call of the West, Acts 16:8-10. The two missionaries were not to be deterred by these hindrances to their plans, but kept on to Troas on the Aegean Sea. Here they were at the gateway to Europe. As Paul walked the streets he saw a motley crowd and among them many Europeans. He must have stood in the harbor and gazed at the islands fringing the coast of Macedonia, and must have longed to cross over and possess that part of the world for Christ.

When these four men, Paul and Silas, Timothy (16:3) and Luke, went down to the water to look for a vessel that might take them across the sea, they probably had no idea how important was the step they were taking. This decision of Paul was, in very truth, a turning point in the history of the world. It challenged for the first time the whole of western civilization with the gospel of Jesus Christ, and we cannot picture what would have been the consequences had they not gone.

The Gospel Taken Into Europe, Acts 16:11, 12. From Troas they took ship directly to the island of Samothrace, and on the following day reached Neapolis in Macedonia. From Neapolis a mile and a half to Philippi's trip inland. Philippi was a Roman colony and claimed the distinction of being "the first of the district."

The First Converts in Europe, Acts 16:13-15. There could not have been any synagogue in Philippi, or Paul would have gone there on the Sabbath. Beyond the city limits, there was a place of prayer by the river-side, and thither Paul turned his footsteps. He found there a company of women, among whom was Lydia, a prosperous merchant from Thyatira, who dealt in purple-dyed garments. She was a Jewish proselyte, for it is said of her that she worshipped the God. Paul gave his message to this little group of women, and "the Lord opened her heart to give heed unto the things which were spoken by Paul"; she believed the good news, and with her household was baptized, and she and her home became an abode for the two missionaries.

Won Championship

Young Detroit Schoolboy Proved He Was Good Speller

Louis Edward Sissman, a 13-year-old eighth grader from Detroit, who wants to be a newspaperman and right now can probably spell the ears off most reporters, won the 1941 national spelling championship, says Newsweek, New York. He met and defeated 28 other finalists in a bee in the National Press Club auditorium in Washington. Called from 2,500 youngsters in local bees sponsored by newspapers throughout the nation, the spellers had tough material to contend with. On the first round, eight were blitzed out of the running when they flubbed sacramental, haranguing, himn, haleyon, bifurcated, cackination, campanile, and euthanasia. At one point, young Sissman spelled Rubicon instead of rubicund and was banished from the stage until the judges realized he was merely confused by the pronunciation.

All but five had dropped out after the twentieth round. Finally, the field narrowed down to the Detroit boy and Phyllis Davis of Akron, Ohio, also 13 and in the eighth grade, who pitted her IQ of 156 against Louis' 132. Serious and poised, he calmly demanded "meaning, please" when given a strange word. Phyllis frequently pondered every syllable for long minutes before taking the leap. And after a three-hour struggle which took them through round No. 103, nonchalance won out over IQ. Phyllis, who really knows better, spelled it crysanthemum. Thereupon Louis rattled off initials and took the championship.

Wheat Kernels Are Cleaned The Same As Metallic Ores

Food Industries says: Borrowing a method long used in cleaning metallic ores, Theodore Earle, a mining engineer, has developed a way to remove the rough outer hulls from wheat kernels without in any way damaging the remaining part of the wheat berry. These hulls are light, fibrous and tough, and contain practically none of the nutritive elements of wheat.

CHLOROPHYLL FOR COLDS

In the American Journal of Surgery, Dr. Benjamin Gruskin announces that 1,200 cases of infection ranging from peritonitis to pyorrhea and the common cold had been treated with a large measure of success by chlorophyll. Green and red are the colors of life. Chlorophyll is the green of plants and human beings eat green plants to the benefit of their health.

Dr. Gruskin says that for lung and brain abscesses, abdominal infections such as peritonitis, a solution of chlorophyll in salt water was applied directly to the infected surfaces either in wet dressings or through soft rubber tubes. Indolent ulcers and weeping skin diseases were treated with a paste of chlorophyll and lanoline. Even floods of the green stuff do no harm to living tissues.

The most spectacular results were obtained in the treatment of sinus infections and common colds. In more than 1,000 cases treated at Temple University Hospital, Philadelphia, there was "not a single case recorded in which either improvement or cure did not take place." Patients with mild colds sniffed chlorophyll nose drops once a day. Those with severe sinus infections wore chlorophyll packs or had large amounts pumped up their noses once every day for a period even as long as several weeks.

Chlorophyll seems to act (1) by increasing the resistance to bacteria; or (2) by releasing oxygen which prevents bacteria from forming poison. Chlorophyll is bland and soothing and thus has a great advantage over antiseptics, many of which are harsh and irritating. It is usually obtained from nettles.

Transfer Of 1,000 Radio Men For Overseas Work

Britain's new civilian technical corps to run the secret radio locator device of the Royal Air Force is open to Canadians as well as Americans, a spokesman for the British technical mission to Canada said. A drive for 10,000 members for the new corps has been opened in the United States.

Canada's part in providing technicians for the device has included transfer of 1,000 radio men overseas already. Months ago, authorities started quietly enlisting radio experts. They combed the lists of the national registration taken last year. When the supply of men with training was exhausted, the R.C.A.F. and the emergency training plan of the labor department started to train men. Many of them university undergraduates, some 2,500 recruits are in training in Canadian universities this summer. A big increase in training of radio mechanics in technical school will be launched shortly by the labor department, the Free Press learned.

Volunteers can enter the corps through the British mission in Ottawa or at the Montreal transit pool at Lower Canada college. The corps also needs fitters, metal workers, machine tool operators, setters and electricians.
